Digital methods for project work

Digitale metoder i projektarbejdet

During the workshop on digital methods for project work, we will be using digital methods and tools as a means to support problem based project work. The workshop will include reflections on the integration of social media into project work, the organization of collaborative writing processes and the sharing of knowledge and resources across project groups.

The workshop is designed for students who are already familiar with using digital technologies as part of their project work and who have previous knowledge on how using these technologies and selecting which technologies to use may differ across different fields of study. The overall aim of this workshop is to improve the students' digital PBL competences and to enable students to reflect critically on digital PBL competences in relation to project work.
